A State Department of Local Government. --Our conclusions thus far seem to be: (1) that there are but few towns or cities in the state large enough to warrant their adoption of the manager plan; (2) that all the places in the state need, and in most cases would welcome, the counsel of the trained student of government. Here in Vermont today there is a crying need of a state department of municipal affairs or a local government board. Such a department, created for the purpose of helping towns in the administration of local government, would offer to them many advantages without any curtailment of local powers. With expert advice available from such a department, all cities and towns would be able to enjoy not only the advantages of consulting qualified men other than their own officials, without expense to the town, but would be able...

Reviews

This book is great. It is written in simple words and not difficult to understand. I discovered this pdf from my dad and I suggested this ebook to find out.
