The bones of St. Wenefred, when they were removed from Denbighhire to Shrewsbury, are said to have been first, for a time, deposited in this church.--In the churchyard, but now almost obliterated, is an inscription to the memory of William White, a quarter-master of horse, in the reign of William III.: In Irish wars I sought for England's glory; Let no man scoff at telling of this story. I saw great Schomberg fall, likewise the brave St. Ruth, And here I come to die, not there in my youth. Through dangers great I have passed many a storm, Die we all must, as sure as we are born. St. Alkmunt's church is remarkable for its handsome spire. It contains an east window of stained glass, the workmanship of Eginton of Birmingham. This was put...
