Ten o'clock on that particular day of the week is the hour of rising. The boy therefore - who, it should be said, was an alien on the street, having resided there only a few weeks - did not expect to meet or greet any of his new friends. But he was agreeably disappointed. Miss Alice O Shea, residing in the neat two-story frame house which faces and blocks Pike Street, casting a chance look out of her window as she was engaged in the completion of her simple Saturday-morning toilet - much simpler, of course, than on the days when school was held - caught sight of the ruddy stranger. Alice, aged eleven, good-natured almost to a fault, liked the new boy. He was good-natured, too. Had he not presented her with an apple a few days ago, apropos of nothing? Had he not always greeted her with a smile? When she got up her birthday party she had settled that...
